

Best Poke In NYC And Where To Find It

December 15, 2016 5:50 AM

Poke has officially arrived in NYC and we've found the five best spots in the city. Whether you want a traditional bowl or a fun burrito version, we've got you covered. By Carly Petrone.

(credit: 5 Napkin Burger)

5 Napkin Burger

More: Best Nachos In NYC

Did you know that 5 Napkin Burger is serving up some seriously tasty poke nachos? Head to one of their four NYC locations and try their Tuna Poke Nachos, which is piled high with fresh tuna marinated in soy sauce, sesame oil, seasoned rice vinegar, and ginger. Of course, it wouldn't be nachos without hand-cut potato chips and a variety of toppings including avocado, plum tomatoes, cucumber, red onion, fresh jalapeno, scallions, cilantro, and lime juice. Wasabi Mayo and Nori Furikake are also spread evenly on top to finish off this delicious dish. This may technically be on the appetizer menu, but it's definitely big enough to share – just make sure you get everything loaded into one bite!

