

Must-Try Bites Along The Second Avenue Subway Line

January 5, 2017 9:08 AM

By John Friia

The wait is over for the Second Avenue Subway. After 10 years of planning and construction, the new Q train began service in January 2017, helping the commute of thousands of New Yorkers and allowing people to explore the restaurants along Second Avenue. From burgers to beer and southern cuisine, here are some of the best bites along the new subway line.

5 Napkin Burger

1325 Second Avenue

New York, NY 10021

212-249-0777

www.5napkinburger.com

72nd STREET STATION: With multiple locations throughout the city, 5 Napkin Burger serves their mouthwatering burgers on the Upper East Side just steps from the new subway station. In honor of the highly-anticipated opening, Executive Chef Andy D'Amico created The "Q Train" burger. During the month of January, people can order the hearty Angus burger made with knockwurst spices and topped with pastrami, Gruyere, braised sauerkraut and mustard on a pretzel bun. Construction workers that can prove they worked on the subway will receive a 20 percent discount throughout the month.

