Fantastic Deals for Father's Day... In and Out of Manhattan!

By Ryan Shea - Jun 14, 2017

Father's Day is only a couple of days away, happening this coming Sunday! This is the one day a year to really celebrate the father in your life in the best way possible and tell him how much he means to you. This love can be shown in many different ways, but no matter what, food and some type of gift (maybe a hammock?) is a must to be on the list for Father's Day itself! We here at Manhattan Digest have found some pretty sweet ideas for how to celebrate in style for that special guy!

Take a look at where we think you should go, and what you should buy him for the big day. Happy Father's Day everyone!

What makes Dad happier than burgers and beer? On Father's Day, 5 Napkin Burger is offering a special Father's Day Burger & Beer Flight ($24) available at all four New York City locations! Enjoy the dynamic duo starting with the BBQ Bacon Ranch Burger with a 10 ounce beef patty slathered with housemade barbecue-ranch sauce, piled high with crispy bacon strips, fried spicy cheese curds, pickled spring onions and lettuce on the restaurant's signature potato bun. For the beer, a Craft Beer Flight includes three 7-ounce pours of Sam Adams Seasonal Summer Ale, Coney Island Double Header IPA and Coney Island Tunnel of Love Watermelon Wheat.
