Eat, Commercials, Halftime Show and of course Football all come to mind when we are going into Super Bowl Sunday! Super Bowl LI will be taking place this coming Sunday, February 5th, where the Atlanta Falcons will take on the New England Patriots in a clash of the titans. Are you still figuring out where to eat, drink and more for the big day? Fear not, because we here at Manhattan Digest have found some super awesome places to either eat out or dine in at your choosing!

Check out some of the places we think you should stop by for some good eats and more.

5 Napkin Burger (5napkinburger.com)

5 Napkin Burger is a fixture of New York City's burger scene, so if sliders are on the menu for your SuperBowl party, make sure you order them from 5 Napkin! Order 20 sliders and get your favorite selection of either 5N – all natural beef, imported gruyere, caramelized onions, and a rosemary-garlic aioli; Spicy Cheddar – all natural beef, cheddar, pepper relish with a spicy mayo sauce; and 5N Veggie – housemade veggie patty, 5N sauce, and bread and butter pickles. But wait, that's not all! Korean BBQ Wings and Hell's Kitchen Wings will be available along with Salad Bowls, Waffle Fries, Cheesecake and Carrot Cake! Call your local 5 Napkin Burger to order or check them out on Caviar, Uber Eats and Amazon PrimeNow.
